CLOUDBURST AT FAIR MONTROSE

The Town Visited by the Most Violent Storm on Record-Much Damage Results from Downpour of Rain.

Special to the Scranton Tribune,

Montrose, Aug. 21.-This town and immediate vicinity was visited last night by the most terrific thunder storm of the season. If it was not literally a cloudburst certainly it was a very close approach to one. The rain began before midnight and continued with unabating fury nearly all night. A good share of the town's population got up from their beds and watched the progress of the storm. With an incessant downpour of rain was a continuous electrical display, intermingled with deafening peals of thunder. There was little if any wind. The damage wrought, while considerable, was nothing like as great as might be expected. The gutters of the streets were overflowed and the streets became rushing torrents. The swanps on the outskirts of the town assumed the appearance of miniature lakes. The streets in many places were badly washed and much of the good work done by Street Commissioner Rutan and assistants during the spring and summer was undone "in the twinkling of an eye." But one place has been reported where lightning struck within the borough limits and that was on the terrace in front of Deputy Sheriff H. S. Conklin's residence on Prospect street. It struck not over six feet from the house and tore a large hole in the bank. Numer-ous cellars were flooded and in one house on Chenango street a layer of mud to the depth of an inch was deposited upon a newly laid carpet, by the street gutter overflowing and a part of the stream turning directly into the house. Outside of town, reports come of more serious damage, buildings being struck and wholly or partially destroyed and houses flooded, to such an extent in one instance as to force the occupants to move the furnishings of the first floor to the floor above. Following so closely upon the storms of Saturday and Sunday, which caused washouts, destroyed bridges and interfered so with all modes of travel, our people are wondering what next is in store for them. The weather has been threatening nearly all day, and this afternoon we have had another brisk

FOREST CITY. Special to the Scranton Tribune

Forest City, Aug. 21.-The hotel of Julius Freedman and the wholesale liquor store of Samuel Lyon were boycotted by the three big locals of the United Mine Workers of America in this place the past week. The ban has been removed from both of these places, but while it lasted their business was almost totally annihiated. Each of these men lost many hundollars during the few days it two weeks ago deputy revenue collectors called on the officers of the local unions and made them pay a license for selling beer. The report got in circulation that Messrs, Freedman and revenue collector and this was the basis for the boycott. A fine of $2 was imposed on anyone seen going into either of these places and the penalty for a second offense was suspension. Mr. Freedman, in company with an officer of the local union, interlewed Collector the officers of District No. 1, threatening to take it into court if the boycott was not at once removed. They promthat he got justice. Vice resident Resin the opera house this week and after mous vote the boycott was removed. The foreign members of the locals, many of whom are customers of these

Mrs. Mary Kelly, an aged lady, died yesterday morning at her home or Tunnel street, from general debility The deceased was not what might be termed a prominent resident of this city, but there was an incident in her life that brought her before the public quite prominently about a year ago. Mrs. Kelly's son, Michael, is a soldier in the regular army of the United States. He has been in the service for lasted. After the big union picnic held a number of years, and the aged mother had not seen her son for some time. Information came last year that the regiment to which he belonged was ordered to China, and that on their way to the west would pass through Pitts Lyons had reported the matter to the ton on the Lehigh Valley railroad. Mrs. Kelly immediately became anxious to see her boy, and when the day for the regiment to pass through here arrived she made her way to the Lehigh and Bloomsburg junction depot hoping to bid her soldier boy a fond adieu. At the station, however, she was informed Evans and got a statement that he that the train woud not stop there, but had nothing to do with reporting the would stop at Falling Springs, at the picnic. He then laid the matter before upper end of the Coxton yard, to take on water. Filled with disappointment fourth inning. tears flowed from the old mother's eyes, and the employes at the station taking ised to investigate the matter and see pity on her secured an engine and had the woman taken to the spot where the covits and Committeemen Collins and train would stop. Patiently she sat Healey attended a special meeting held along the bank until the train arrived, when Michael was informed of his it was thoroughly discussed, by unani- mother's presence, and for a few minutes mother and son with eyes filled with tears were clasped in a fond embrace, and there were few dry eyes in the long line of soldiers who looked on two men, were largely instrumental in the scene from the windows of the cars. THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Aug. 21.—Today's market for stocks was practically a duplication of yesterday's, except that the final re-action on profit taking was rather more marked, with the result that the table of not changes is more mixed between small gains and losses than yesterday. The prevailing tone of the market was firm to strong, up to the irregular closing on the reaction. The character of the buying made it very evident that it represented the opinions of professional traders as to future values rather than the continuation of investors. There was some evidence of operations by pools formed by the larger class of traders. What motives actuated these operations the public was left to conjecture. There was quite an active demand for the Wabash securities, which lifted them at one time $\frac{1}{2}$ to 15. There was continued buying of the coalers, which was based on the showing disclosed by the Eric's annual report, which shows a substantial in crease in gress earnings, notwithstanding a con-siderable falling off in the tonnage transported, a demonstration of the greater stability of rates maintained among the anthracite carriers by reason of the extension of community of interest. The coming monthly increase of ten cents on a ton for anthracite also counted. There was the grain carrying reads, which was apparent for short account. Some revision of pessimistic views regarding the corn crop seemed to be the cause of this covering. The United States Steel stocks were almost domain and were merely steady. These stocks have apparently arrived at a stage where they are unaffected by trike news. Total sales today, 399,100 stares. The railroad bond market was decidedly more active today, but the tone was steady to firm Total sales par value, $2,213,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on the
